An Arkansas Farmer Couldn't Stand It to See His Cows Dogged Out of a Neighbor's Field.

TEXARKANA, TEX., April 10.-John Sinzer, a farmer living two infles from town, was arraigned this morning before Justice ative of Miller county in the Arkansas leg-islature. By request of Vogel, who re-turned from Little Rock last night, the charge was reduced to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, to which Sinzer pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs. The trouble between the parties grew out of Mrs. Voged dogring Sinzer's cattle, which made depredations upon her husband's field. On Wednesday afternoon the cattle made one of their breaks upon the field and were dogged out by Mrs. Vogel as usual, when Sinzer suddenly appeared upon the scene and, drawing his pistol, fired at Mrs. Vogel, but the charge failed to take effect. Vogel himself was at Little Rock at the gram advising him of the occurrence.

Financial Reverses Bring Despondency and Death.

DENTON, TEX., April 10.—News was re-ceived here late this afternoon that N. M. Lunn, who has long resided in this county, had committed suicide by hanging himself with a rope about ten miles east of here. His bod, was found lifeless about 10 a. m. to-day hanging in Thomas Puckett's barn. He had been seen two hours before alive and well. Mr. Lunn was about thirtyand well. Mr. Lunn was about thirtyfive or forty years old and unmarried, and had until recently been in possession of good property. He was a farmer and stockman. Recently financial reverses had overtaken him and he had about lost all he had. His business qualifications were not of the best, and he, through trusting and trading with nervons his superior intellect. trading with persons his superior intellect-ually, had become hopelessly involved and had lost several fine tracts of land and all his stock. The occurrence has created considerable excitement here, as he well known and had not an enemy in the county. More Hopeful at Mesquite.

Special to the Gazette.

Mesquitt. Tex.. April 10.—There has been one death to-day, a little son of J. M. Gross. There are no other cases in town. No deaths yesterday. One new case about four miles out in the country, a little son of D. A. Davis. The people are becoming much more hopeful, no others having left since yesterday. We hope the end is near the state of the sta
